East Sussex Better Together

“bringing together prevention work, primary and community care, social care, mental health, acute and specialist care”

Celebrating 150 weeks

- We've come a long way since we launched the first 150-week phase of our ESBT programme in August 2014
- In June 2017 we reached the milestone date, and nearly three years later we can all be proud of the changes and innovations we've put in place
- We've put together this video which charts just some of our successes to date

Working together for you

- We've put what you've told us is important to you right at the heart of our ESBT Alliance
- Together we've developed our outcomes framework so we can measure our success

Our developing outcomes framework

- We developed outcomes together at the Shaping Health and Care events in Autumn 2016
- We used them to create a draft framework which we presented at Shaping Health and Care events in Spring 2017 to find out what people thought
- We will continue to gather views and suggestions during 2017/18
- We will use your feedback to implement the framework in 2018/19

Population health and wellbeing

4.5% reduction in the gap in excess weight for 4-5 year olds between the most and least deprived areas

5% reduction in the gap in preventable deaths between the most and least deprived areas

More than 19.9% of older people saying their quality of life has improved

The experience of local people

More than 79% of people are able to find information and advice about social care support and services

More than 90% of people over 65 will be at home 3 months after rehabilitation

More than 83.6% of people will feel care and support services help them feel safe

Here are some things we're working towards in 2017/18

Transforming services for sustainability

On average, fewer than 7.8 days for long-stay emergency admissions to hospital

A&E attendances falling below 112,572 in 2017/18

Quality care and support

A reduction in healthcare related infections

An increase in the number of people who report they are satisfied with the care and support they receive

A reduction in the number of falls
